Water Backflow Preventers

The City will soon be sending out surveys in regards to water backflow preventers. What are backflow preventers? They are devices installed in your water pipes that allows water to flow in one direction and never in the opposite direction. Think of it as a one-way gate allowing the City's public water to flow into your home, but stopping anything that tries to flow backwards into the main water supply. Why are backflow preventers important? Simply put, they keep the pollutants you use in and around your house (soap from sinks/showers/dishwashers, fertilizers/pesticides, wastes, and chlorine from pools/spas) from siphoning back and contaminating our drinking water supply. There are many different preventers that homeowners should inspect their plumbing to determine if they have any of these devices or assemblies installed. Preventing backflow is the responsibility of all homeowners, and the safe water that results from installing proper protection benefits everyone. We are asking that everyone fills out and returns the survey when it is mailed out.
